Picture Books Help Children Learn to Build SEL skills

“Literacy” has multiple meanings, including competence in a specific area. Reading is a proven, time-honored way to build critically important competencies in children, especially social and emotional literacy. Reading is an inherently emotional act. Readers relate to and empathize with characters who face conflicts in a story. High-quality picture books can help children become more aware of their own emotions while practicing sensitivity and empathy toward others.

The library is recognized as a safe space for children in part because librarians build collections to meet the needs of their readers, including social-emotional development. Just as letters make up phonemes that make up words that make up sentences that make up new ideas, reading can promote a similar progression for social and emotional learning. Picture books can become a framework for acquiring necessary SEL basics: awareness of self and others, language acquisition to label emotions, and reflection and self-expression.

Equipping students with a love of reading and thoughtfully aware ways to respond to the challenging and changing world around them is key to their future success.

Literacy + Social-Emotional Development = Successful Child

New Experiences with Nelephant

Written and Illustrated by Gill McLean

Using your imagination unlocks the door to new worlds that teach you new things about yourself. This is the important lesson young readers learn when they meet Nelephant and her friends Wabbit, Waggy, and Wolly Oly. As they each use their imagination to dream up amazing adventures and express their strengths and what makes them special, readers explore the concepts of bravery, creativity, and the importance of friendship. These beautifully illustrated picture books are sure to captivate and comfort readers, inviting them to unleash the power of their own imaginations.

- Charming illustrations of adorable animal toys fill the pages
- Simple text encourages reading in a variety of settings—at home with an adult, in the classroom, or independently
- Gentle tone reinforces essential social-emotional learning concepts, such as self-esteem, relationship skills, and recognizing strengths in oneself and others

SEL connections:

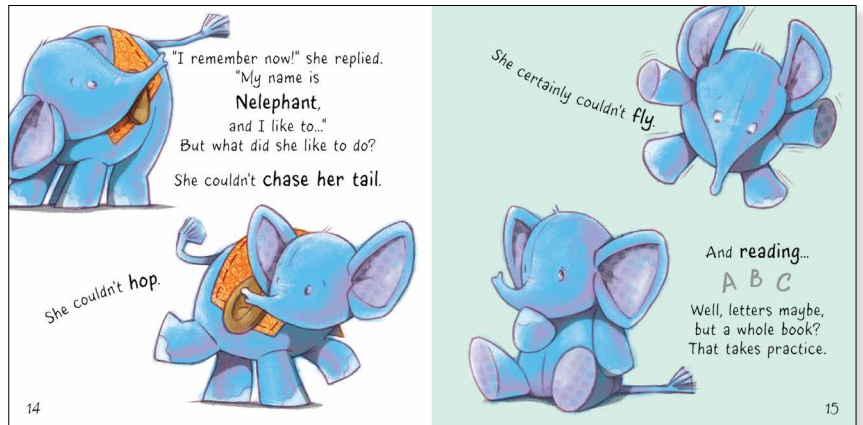

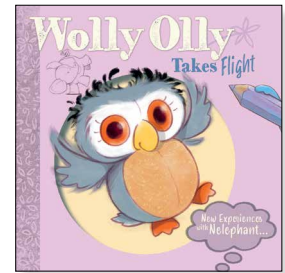

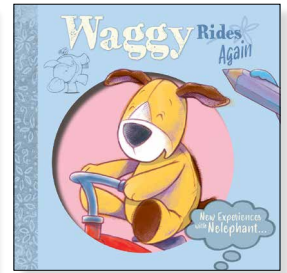

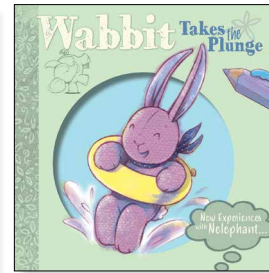

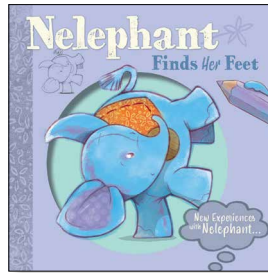

- Recognizing one's strengths
- Self-efficacy
- Teamwork

My First Classic Tales

By Arianna Candell
Illustrated by Daniel Howarth

The stories have been told for centuries, but the iconic fairy tales retold here are brought to life in a new way with beautiful, modern illustrations that capture the heart and charm of these beloved characters. From Little Red Riding Hood and the wolf to Goldilocks and the family of bears, young readers discover or perhaps rediscover a wonderful cast of fairy-tale characters and stories. With detailed illustrations and age-appropriate text broken into manageable sections, readers are fully immersed within the retellings of these formative and entertaining stories.

- The text is designed for a variety of reading situations—from independent reading to story time in the classroom to bedtime stories at home
- Readers discover the original stories behind some of their favorite animated movies, including Peter Pan and Pinocchio
- Each story offers a valuable lesson for young readers, which are often tied to social-emotional learning concepts

Jalani and the Lock

As a little boy, Jalani loves playing with his imaginary friends in the forest near his home in Africa. One day, a stranger takes Jalani from the forest and sends him to America on a big boat. Jalani is covered in locks and chains, forced to work all day and never to play again. After many years, Jalani and the other slaves are freed. Jalani decides to keep the lock and key so his family would never forget where they came from. Inspired by true events, this boldly illustrated story is a lesson in resilience and remembrance.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR AND ILLUSTRATOR:

REBECCA RALFE has a passion for adventure and storytelling that led to a career as an anthropologist in remote areas of Australia. While raising her three children, Rebecca began writing funny, inspiring and entertaining stories from her beach shack in Cairns where she is visited daily by wallabies at the back fence. Rebecca hopes to engage children of all ages and abilities in the adventure of storytelling.

GABRIELLA PETRUSO lives in the UK with her dog, partner, and son. She's lucky to live within cycling distance of a zoo, where she and her sketchbook can be spotted in their natural habitat. Using colored ink and pencil she creates humorous characters. After originally training in medicine, Gabriella won an award for her artwork in 2017 and has been thoroughly enjoying pursuing her love of picture books since.

Three Silly Chickens

Who is the most beautiful chicken of them all? Nora, Dora, and Flora spend their time squabbling over this question, bringing chaos to the henhouse. The other chickens think the vain chickens should ask the farmer—who might even make them dinner. When a wise old goat offers the three silly chickens three wishes, they have a chance to redeem themselves. But can they decide who should get the three wishes, or will their competitive attitudes get in the way? This funny picture book set on a farm offers a lesson about important values, with a hint of magic.

Reggie Red

Reggie hears other girls in her class talk about dyeing their hair and wearing makeup for their class picture. This makes her feel bad about her own appearance, with her big, red mane and freckles. But try as she might, Reggie can't seem to cover up her hair or freckles. Her mom passes down some family wisdom about inner beauty, which helps not only Reggie feel better, but also helps another girl feel better too. This book about self-love and inner beauty will speak to young readers who might feel self-conscious as they compare themselves to peers.

Caged

By Duncan Annand. Illustrated by Duncan Annand

Caged is a wordless and witty tale of freedom, ingenuity, and thwarted ambition. While a bluebird builds her nest in the forest, two eccentric gentlemen have a more ambitious construction in mind: a vast palatial building made from birdcages filled with colorful parrots. As the trees come down and the structure goes up, the bluebird watches the spectacle. More and more caged birds are consigned to their fate until at last a huge dome completes the work. However, when the celebrating architects go in to admire their creation, the little bluebird brings their ambitions crashing down around them.

Igor

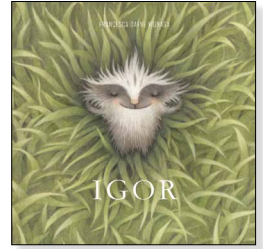

By Francesca Dafne Vignago. Illustrated by Francesca Dafne Vignago

The only thing Igor knows about himself is his name. When he's not busy playing, he likes to watch what the animals do, but why has he never seen anyone else like himself? Maybe it is time to leave home and go on a journey of self-discovery.

"A lean, art-focused tale about seeking oneself and knowing one's goals." —Publishers Weekly

Naughty Herbert

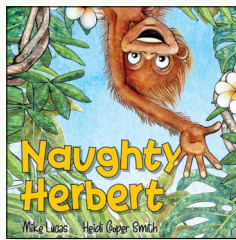

By Mike Lucas. Illustrated by Heidi Cooper Smith

Herbert is a mischievous ape with a taste for sweets. And there's a tasty cake just for the reader on the last page. Readers will love following Herbert as he overcomes every obstacle put in his way to get to the delicious cake. With comical illustrations and rollicking rhyme, this story will not only keep readers engaged, it'll involve them in the book in a whole new way as they attempt to keep their cake safe from naughty, yet wildly determined, Herbert.

Newt in a Suit

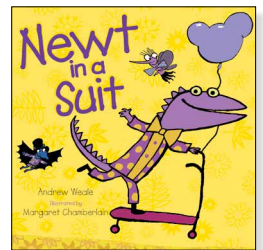

By Andrew Weale. Illustrated by Margaret Chamberlain

A celebration of numbers and rhyme, Newt in a Suit combines colorful illustrations with wacky language to make learning to count fun and easy. Readers will count two flies in ties and three cockatoos in shoes as they try to solve a mystery: where are all these animals going? After counting to ten, readers will be delighted to find out that all of these animals are going to the newt's birthday party! This picture book is both educational and exciting, and kids will love learning to count with this wild crew.

Sally and the Magical Sneez

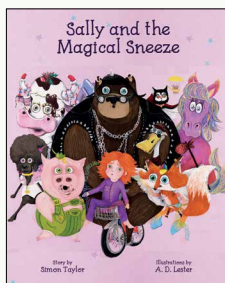

By Simon Taylor. Illustrated by A. D. Lester

Sally is home sick, feeling sad and lonely, but one magical sneeze changes everything. Suddenly, a rainbow horse spews from her lips! With each sneeze, a new magical creature appears, from a cow wearing Christmas lights to a bear on a bike. Swept up in this magical moment, Sally doesn't feel so sick anymore. This comical story is sure to cheer up kids who are feeling sick or lonely, and sends a strong message of the power of imagination. Wacky illustrations bring this unforgettable story of magical sneezes and imagination to life.

Skadoodle and Snug's Magnificent Plan

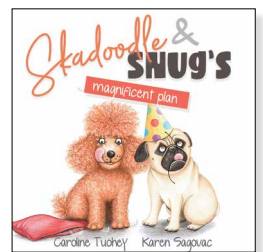

By Caroline Tuohey. Illustrated by Karen Sagovac

Skadoodle and Snug have a problem, and they're set on solving it. Skadoodle is an energetic poodle who just wants to play and run, but she belongs to an older woman, Miss Willis, who prefers peace and quiet. Next door, Snug is a pug who just wants to lay about, but his owner is athletic, and wants him as a running buddy. Skadoodle and Snug make a plan to switch owners, complete with disguises. Readers will delight in this rhyming picture book about problem solving and friendship. Bright illustrations and whimsical text tell the story of two mischievous dogs who take matters into their own paws.
